Introducing Summer College to New First-Year Students

Do you want to get a jumpstart on your college experience?

UIC's Summer College Program is a tuition-free program for incoming, first-year students. Your participation in the Summer College Program is the single best thing you can do this summer to enhance your college career. Participating students will receive individualized attention in small classes taught by experienced instructors. Students who participate in Summer College will improve their skills in math, writing, chemistry, physics, creative arts, critical thinking, research, reading, studying and more!

There are a wide range of offerings that make Summer College accessible for our new UIC students! There are six-week programs that offer advanced placements in math, writing, chemistry, and physics. There are also great opportunities to explore your field of study through your college or improve skills in reading and studying in our six week programs. Learning about healthcare professions and undergraduate research, and improving critical thinking skills can be pursued in one of our one-day programs.

You will have the opportunity to meet peers, connect with faculty, staff and advisors, learn your way around the UIC campus, and discover UIC's many resources. Make UIC your home before the first day of the fall semester. There is even an option to live in campus housing.

We encourage you explore your options related to Summer College. You can register through your UIC portal: www.my.uic.edu.
